

Rebuilding Community

This reflection invites you to imagine where you can help heal and build our communities.

Every relationship we have is a building block in a larger community. How might your relationships help us build stronger communities?

- What relationship in your life need some work?
- What biases impact those relationships?
- What past hurts impact those relationships?
- What past hurts impact those relationships?
- Which relationships have the most potential for growth?
- What steps are needed to strengthen these relationships?
- What partners are needed to strengthen these relationships?
- What is your prayer for these relationships and this process?

What does the building relationships require of you?

Doing More Together

Who are your partners and how do you support each other?

Name some partners you work with:	What do they do?	What do you do?

What partnerships have changed your life?
